

LEAD Pakistan

Leadership for Environment and Development (LEAD), Pakistan, is an independent policy think tank that focuses on policy research, public policy engagement, and leadership development in the public, private and not-for-profit sectors. In addition to its Leadership Development Programme (since 1995), Social Capital Development Programme (2005), Climate Action Programme (since 2007), and Water Programme (since 2013), LEAD Pakistan launched incubation of three Special Initiatives in 2015: Pakistan-Towards 2047; Knowledge Hub on SDGs; and Sustainable Cities. Through its field projects, under these programmes, it has been striving to build the social capital of the targeted communities. These strategic programmes aim to shape the development discourse in Pakistan and to ensure that the federal and provincial governments' development agendas are equitable, in line with international commitments and global best practices. During the last few years, LEAD has been the strongest proponent and exemplar of climate compatible development in the country.

LEAD Pakistan hosts several networks of sub-national, national and regional significance. Most of our work is carried out in partnership with other institutions. LEAD has pursued a robust and ambitious research agenda. Our research on various dimensions of climate change, water, environment, health and education, among other sectors, has attracted national and international attention. Our research papers and reports, policy briefs, case studies, updates, infographics and periodic newsletters underlining an evolving portfolio can be accessed on our website (www.lead.org.pk).

With a history of successful delivery of over 200 development initiatives over 22 years, we are striving to enhance our impact on development in Pakistan, the South Asian region and beyond.

Inspiring leadership for a sustainable world

22 Years of Leadership

Since its inception in 1995, LEAD Pakistan has grown into one of the most dynamic LEAD Member Programmes in the world. Its expertise and institutional capacity has given it great outreach as well as institutional strength through a robust project portfolio, staff size, budget and geographical footprint. LEAD Pakistan has proved to be resilient and flexible, with a focused approach towards efficient delivery of commitments, continuity of mission and taking the long-term view to development.

The organization operates a fully equipped office in Islamabad and is registered under the Societies Registration Act XXI, 1880.

Financial Performance

1995-2000

LEAD began as a project of Rockefeller Foundation in 1992. Its aim was to ensure that sustainable development became integrated in global culture. By the end of 2000, LEAD International, along with 12 member programmes, was a vibrant global organization, with fourteen country and regional programmes in Asia, Africa, North and South America and Europe.

During the first five years LEAD Pakistan's focus was to develop a critical mass of new generation leaders to carry forward the sustainable development agenda.

LEAD Pakistan's vision is to mobilize support for value-based and effective service delivery for sustainable development. It is committed to be a value-add institution for its stakeholders, partners and beneficiaries.

Our mission is to create, strengthen and support networks of people and institutions. These networks are then used to promote change towards development that is economically sound, environmentally responsible and socially equitable.

Sectoral Focus

2000-2010

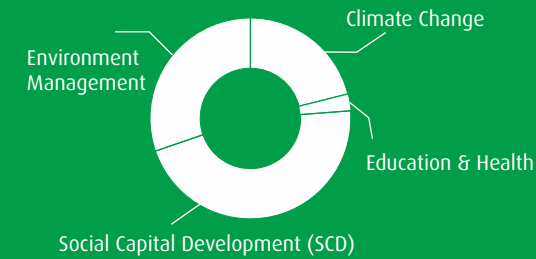

During the decade 2000-2010 LEAD Pakistan evolved into a dynamic organization. Today LEAD Pakistan carries out a range of activities, from capacity development to creating and nurturing networks, community empowerment and policy and action research, all interwoven with the dynamics for formation of social capital, and public policy engagement.
